

Welcome to the October edition of the Meath Arts Office Newsletter. This edition includes updates on some of our initiatives, artists opportunities and events.

Recommendations under The Meath Arts Office Grants, Awards & Bursaries Schemes including the Annual Arts Grants, Community Arts Award, Professional Arts Development Fund, Tyrone Guthrie Centre Regional Bursary Award and Festival Scheme were considered and approved by Council members at the full County Council meeting held on October 5th. A total of 38 awards were approved, providing support to over 40 artists living and working in the county as well as a number of arts organisations, schools, community groups and festivals. All applicants will be contacted in the coming week. Recommendations under the Schools Musical Instrument Purchase Scheme will be considered at the November Council meeting.

We have some wonderful public art pieces around the county, and we will be featuring some of these in our newsletters over the coming months. First up is ‘Elevations’ by Meath artist Jillian Gott. Located in the Windtown Community Centre, Jillian worked with the various individuals and groups who use the facility in the creation of this beautiful work.

Meath Arts Meath-Up

At the beginning of 2020, we asked Meath-based artists/makers the following question; do you sometimes feel isolated as an independent artist/maker in your community?

The first Meath Arts Meet-Up (MAMU) gathered on 27th February with a view to continuing them once a month. This new initiative was launched with a hope to combat the isolation sometimes felt by the independent artistic sector, and create an opportunity for independent artists/makers to connect with other artists, theatre makers, dancers, writers, film makers, producers, musicians, freelancers etc. in an informal setting over a cup of tea/coffee. It also created an informal space for Meath-based independent artists to engage with the Meath Arts Office team and to develop new networks, while exploring possible areas for collaboration, training, mentorship etc.

Unfortunately, due to the unexpected circumstances of the COVID-19 emergency, we had to postpone these in-person meetings until further notice, but offered one-on-one information and check-in sessions with Independent Arts Manager Aisling O'Brien (AOB Arts Management) throughout the Summer.

We would hope to continue these in-person gatherings when it is safe to do so, but until then; we want to know how we can support you in this changing landscape. A lot has changed over the past year, here are just some questions we have been wondering about for a potential think-tank:

Would you like to try group zoom sessions?

Would you like one-on-one mentoring sessions?

What short-term online training would you like to see on offer?

Is there a particular established artist/maker that you would benefit hearing about their practice?

Are there particular groups that you think are needed in your area?

What isn't happening that could happen?

Or do you just want to introduce yourself and say hi!

We may not be able to deliver all of your requests, and will continue to adhere to government guidelines, but we want to create a space where you can be heard and artistically valued. If you are an artist/maker in the county wanting to participate in this think-tank or have any other suggestions, please contact artsoffice@meathcoco.ie and title the subject MAMU.

EMBARGO

BY DEIRDRE KINAHAN

DIRECTED BY MAISIE LEE

FISHAMBLE

COMMISSIONED BY IARNRÓD ÉIREANN &
DUBLIN PORT
COMPANY

Award winning playwright Deirdre Kinahan's new play Embargo takes place this weekend as part of the Dublin theatre Festival. Although it is no longer possible to attend the event in person due to Covid restrictions, the play is being live streamed on Sunday 11th Oct.

In September 1920, during the War of Independence, dockers and railwaymen refused to transport any armed troops, or to handle any weapons arriving from Britain. On the centenary of this act of civil resistance, Fishamble will stage a site-responsive production, in association with Dublin Port Company and Iarnród Éireann.

EMBARGO is a muddy, complicated, poetic, bloody, and heroic tale of a politically motivated industrial action, in which three characters deal with a pivotal moment during the Irish War of Independence.

For ages 14+.

Fishamble will now present a performance of EMBARGO on its YouTube channel and Fishamble.com, live-streamed from the Pumphouse in Dublin Port.

2020 Journey
Kells Type Trail is an annual festival celebrating typography and lettering as a modern art form. Each year one word is translated into a variety of languages reflecting the diversity of the Kells community. This year's word is 'JOURNEY'. agency for collaborative arts

The second Artist in the Community Scheme Bursary Award 2020: Collaborative Arts and Human Rights aims to support individual professional artists working in collaborative socially engaged arts practice.

The purpose of the award is to support and nurture professional arts practice; it is specifically aimed at an artist with a track record of working collaboratively with communities of place or interest in the context of human rights. The bursary of €10,000 provides the selected artist with time and resources to carry out research and to reflect and engage with and reflect on their practice. More particularly, it allows the artist to consider key questions associated with human rights using collaborative methodologies.

It is expected that the successful applicant will share the learning arising from the bursary with the wider Human Rights and collaborative arts sector. Create will work in partnership with the Irish Council for Civil Liberties, providing an information session and on the selection process.

OPPORTUNITIES

Arts and Health Forum Continuing Professional Development Opportunities

Continuing professional development for artists, health, community and youth leaders will recommence at Townhall, Cavan as part of the Cavan and Monaghan Arts and Health Forum. A number of topics will be explored and the first of these is 'Boundary' in working through arts practice with others.

Monday 12 October is for artists and community/youth workers who consider that they have little experience of considering boundary as part of their work and who may not have worked in community, youth and social contexts. This day is particularly for artists who want to learn more about working through the arts with children, youths and vulnerable adults and consider that they may wish to develop a socially engaged practice.

Tuesday 13 October is aimed at artists, health professionals and youth / community workers who have experience of integrating boundaries as part of their work practice and would value an opportunity to renew their professional development in this area.

This training will be delivered by Blue Box who use the creative arts psychotherapy model to improve health and well-being for young people, children and their families.
